INTRODUCTION

Introductory

This publication is prepared primarily for use in coding occupation descriptions of individuals in the work force as recorded by householders on Census of Population Schedules. It is an alphabetical list of occupation descriptions reported in earlier Censuses and surveys with the appropriate occupation code category shown opposite each entry. The code numbers have been taken from the Classification of Occupations which is an arrangement of occupations in the economy into groups and sub-groups. In the Classification in use there are 313 occupation categories arranged into 72 minor groups and 11 major groups. In a companion volume known as the " Classification and Classified List of Occupations " which contains the Classification, entries in the alphabetical index have also been collected and arranged alphabetically under each occupation category.

2 Economic Activity of Individuals as shown on Census Schedules

For Census purposes, the economic activity of persons in the work force is classified in three ways:

(a) Occupation, which describes what the person actually does, e.g., carpenter, clerk.

(b) Occupational status, the status of each person in his occupation, e.g., employer (Status E), worker on own account without employing others (Status O), working for wages (Status W).

(c) Industry, the branch of productive activity, business or service in which the individual works or carries out his occupation, e.g., building and construction, bread baking.

It is important to distinguish clearly the difference between the terms industry and occupation. This is probably made clearer by the following example. A single establishment may employ individuals performing completely different occupations in order to make a particular product or to render a particular service, but the industry classification of each of these individuals is determined by the nature of the product made or the service rendered by the establishment which employs him.

3 Question on Occupation on the Census Schedule

Occupation. State in precise (or award) terms the person's main occupation last week, using where possible two or more words. For example, " Builder's Labourer ", " Dairy Farm Hand ", " Clothing Machinist ", " Wood Machinist ", " Motor Mechanic ", " Electrical Fitter ", " Coal Wheeler ", " Dairy Farmer ", etc. Employees of Government Departments or Authorities should be described by their official designation, such as " District Employment Officer ", " Shire Clerk ", etc., and not by such terms as " Public Servant ", etc.

4 Importance of Occupation Statistics

Occupation statistics prepared from Census Schedules are important, because they provide what is virtually the only set of occupation data available for the population as a whole. Another important factor about occupations collected at a Census of Population is that occupations are collected together with a number of other personal characteristics of importance in analysing occupation data, for example, age, level of education, qualifications, industry. As a result, Census occupations can be cross-tabulated with these characteristics and thereby provide information which is not usually available from other sources.

The material produced provides a statistical framework of value in government administration, and the only nationwide occupation data of value to sociologists and political scientists who are interested in studying socio-economic groupings of the population.

It is important therefore that, despite the real problems which confront the occupation coder at a Census, every effort be made to do the job with the care and responsibility befitting the preparation of statistics which are of importance to the welfare of the community.

5 Classification of Occupations

The Classification of Occupations or Summary of " headings " to which occupation descriptions were coded at the 1961 Census was adopted from the International Standard Classification of Occupations issued by the International Labour Office, Geneva, 1958. The International Standard Classification of Occupations was prepared after extensive discussions and research by world experts in this field to provide an adequate classification framework for countries interested in occupation classification, and, at the same time, provide a basis for international comparison of occupation data obtained mainly from Censuses of Population.

The Classification prepared for the 1966 Census is similar in structure to that used in 1961 with minor modifications based on experience gained during the processing of the 1961 Census and considerable investigation into the results obtained from that Census.

In accordance with the International Standard Classification of Occupations, the structure of this occupation classification is based primarily on the nature of work done. The most important feature of any occupation category in this classification is that the occupation descriptions assigned thereto are more closely related to each other than other occupation categories as regards the functions involved, skills, knowledge and abilities required for satisfactory performance of the job. Other aspects of work characteristics have also been taken into account in forming some of these categories. They include the type of material worked on, workplace environment, use of specialized equipment and other relationships; nevertheless, the particular skills, knowledge and abilities of the workers have an intimate connection with these factors.

The combination of the widespread coverage of occupation categories into a relatively short list of minor groups necessarily implies that the common characteristics which link them together are frequently of a broad or general nature. They are similar to those already outlined for the grouping of occupation descriptions into occupation categories, namely, kind of material worked on, environment of work, equipment used or type of production-process.

The major groups constitute a convenient summarization of the minor groups rather than the basis from which the occupation classification has been developed.

It is considered that this Classification provides meaningful information by occupation groups, consistent with the provision of data obtainable at a Census of Population.

In order to become an efficient user of the Index of Occupations, you will find it most important to understand the structure of the Classification of Occupations. A copy of this will be available to you during your training period, and, will be available, for reference, at any time from your Section Leader.

6 Index of Occupations

(a) Introductory

Ideally an index of occupations for use by Census coders should contain all the occupation descriptions which appear on Census Schedules appropriately coded. However, as you can imagine, there are countless occupation descriptions which appear on Census Schedules, many of them minor variations of one basic occupation description, and the problem of recording, classifying and indexing these is a formidable task.

Our current index, which was used for the first time at the 1961 Census has been considerably expanded by the addition of occupation descriptions recorded at that Census. However, you will come across many more at this Census that are not in the index, and arrangements will be made for you to record these so that they can be added to the index.

As you are aware the question on occupation in the 1966 Census Schedule, specifically asks that employees of Government Departments and Authorities state their designations in reply to this question. This action was taken, commencing with the 1961 Census, in an attempt to eliminate the large number of government employees who had previously given their occupation as " Public Servant ", " Civil Servant ", and to draw a clear line of demarcation between the Administrative and Clerical Groups in the Classification. In broad terms, therefore, this index should be used for reference, in the case of the professions, local government administrative and clerical workers, clerical workers not government, tradesmen, service occupations, production-process workers, labourers and armed forces. It also covers most P.M.G. designations, other than administrative and clerical, because these constitute an important element in several occupation categories, e.g., 662 Telecommunications Technicians, 546 Telegraphists, 555 Postmasters. The Supplementary Indexes should be used for reference in the case of all Commonwealth and State Government, administrative, executive and clerical workers, and in those cases where occupation designations used are peculiar to a government department or authority, e.g., Experimental Officer, Commonwealth Department of Supply; Hostess (Linguist), Melbourne Harbour Trust.

You will soon learn that there are a number of factors which you have to consider in using this index of occupations. It contains a large number of entries, and for the purpose of this Classification the same " occupation description " may represent a " different " occupation in another industry or place of work. Occupation descriptions on schedules are often not as precise as required, and, as a result, entries have been made in the index in an attempt to cover vague and imprecise descriptions. In the allocation of occupation descriptions to occupation categories, it is often necessary to read the occupation description in conjunction with statements about industry, occupational status, and other items on the schedule, such as qualifications, age, sex.

(b) Cross Indexing

This index has been arranged in strict alphabetical order, in accordance with the letters as they appear continuously throughout the occupation description, irrespective of the number of words or other supplementary descriptive data.

Multiple word occupation descriptions have been inserted in their " natural " or " usual " word order. No comprehensive system of cross-indexing has been carried out. However, in a limited number of cases, where considered essential, cross-references have been inserted. It is, therefore, essential for you to check alternative forms of word order before deciding that an entry does not appear in the index. If experience shows a particular entry should be made in the index, then refer the matter to your Section Leader.

(c) Importance of titles such as Assistant, Deputy, etc., in using Index

Generally the addition of such words (adjectives) as assistant, deputy, junior, senior, sub, are to be ignored in determining the appropriate occupation code. This is not always so in the case of government designations. However, care must be exercised in determining the code to be used when a person describes himself as an " assistant " to an " occupation " or an " occupation's assistant ", that is, in each case in which " assistant " is used as a noun.

(d) Occupation and Occupational Status

In coding occupation, occupational status is generally not a determining factor. However, there are a number of entries in the index which are specifically qualified by occupational status and where, in fact, occupational status specifically determines the choice of occupation category. For example:

Occupation Description
Cattle dealer Dealer Proprietor Retail dealer Retail store proprietor Shopkeeper Shop owner Shop proprietor Wholesale dealer, etc.	In combination with industry codes 610–649 (Wholesale Trade, Livestock and Primary Produce Dealing, etc.; Retail Trade)	If Status E, assign to occupation code 110 (Major Group 1) If Status O, assign to occupation code 210 (Major Group 3) If any other Status, refer to Section Leader
Apartment housekeeper Boarding-house keeper	Industry code 782 (Boarding and lodging houses)	If Status E, assign to occupation code 110 (Major Group 1) If Status O, assign to occupation code 805 (Major Group 9) If any other Status, refer to Section Leader
Café proprietor Milk bar proprietor Tea room proprietor, etc.	Industry code 783 (Restaurants and tea rooms)	If Status E, assign to occupation code 110 (Major Group 1) If Status O, assign to occupation code 210 (Major Group 3) If any other Status, refer to Section Leader

(e) Use of Industry as a means of delineating Occupation Categories

Industry codes are used in a number of cases in the index to specifically delineate occupation categories. For example:

(i) Major Group 1: Administrative, Executive and Managerial Workers

When it is decided that an occupation description falls within Major Group 1: Administrative, Executive and Managerial Workers, the occupation category is decided by the industry code applicable in each individual case in accordance with the following schedule:

Instructions for Coding Occupations Classified to Major Group 1: Administrative, Executive and Managerial Workers

When it is decided that an occupation description is to be coded to Major Group 1, then the occupation will be allocated to a precise category within this group depending upon the industry code applicable in each individual case in accordance with the following tables:

ADMINISTRATORS AND EXECUTIVE OFFICIALS, GOVERNMENT

(Industry Codes 650–652, 670–679)

The occupation categories included in this minor group heading cover administrative and executive officials in Commonwealth, State and Local Government. Also included are government inspectors assigned to industry codes 650, 651, 670–679, i.e. Government Administration, who generally carry out inspectorial functions in administering government legislation. Representatives of oversea governments in Australia are also included.

Industry Code	Relevant Occupation Category(a)
	Code No.	Title
650 (part), 670–679	100	Administrators and Executive Officials, Government, n.e.c.— Commonwealth Government
650 (part)	101	State Government
651	102	Local Government
652	103	Representatives of Oversea Consular Agencies and Legations
650 (part), 670–679	104	Inspectors, Government, n.e.c.— Commonwealth Government
650 (part)	105	State Government
651	106	Local Government

(a) In practice, most of these entries will be obtained directly from the Index of Designations of Commonwealth and State Government Departments and Semi-government Authorities.

EMPLOYERS, WORKERS ON OWN ACCOUNT, DIRECTORS, MANAGERS, N.E.C.

Occupations to be allocated to codes 110–118 are those " managerial " or " administrative " occupations in private business, which are not classified elsewhere; and in Government, which are not classified to occupation codes 100–106, as shown in the preceding table. In practice, all persons to be coded to categories 110–118, go to code 110, to be allocated by machine to individual occupations on the basis of relevant industry codes.

Industry Code	Relevant Occupation Category
	Code No.		Title
	Classification of Occupations	As used in this Index
100–491	110		Manufacturing, including Electricity, Gas, Water and Sanitary Services (Production, Supply and Maintenance)
500–519	111		Building and Construction
520–579	112		Transport, Storage and Communication, excluding those engaged in operational transport—see Major Group 6
580–609	113		Finance and Property
610–649	114		Commerce, excluding Shopkeepers working on own account, Status O—see Major Group 3
750–799	115	110	Amusement, Hotels and other Accommodation, Cafés, Personal Service, etc., excluding boarding and apartment house keepers working on own account, Status O—see Major Group 9
000–019, 041, 054, 070–079, 080–092	116		Rural Services, Fishing, Hunting, Trapping, Forestry, Mining and Quarrying
680–749	117		Community and Business Services
800, 810	118		Other and Inadequately Described or Not Stated

The following are examples of "managerial" and "administrative" occupations in private business which are to be allocated to code 110:

Agent, n.e.c., Status E	Executive
Broker	Exporter
Building Contractor, Status E	Importer
Buyer	Manager, n.e.c.
Chairman of Directors	Managing Director
Company Secretary	Manufacturer
Contractor, n.e.c.	Organizer
Co-ordinator	Proprietor, n.e.c.
Dealer, Status E	Representative, Managerial, n.e.c.
Director, n.e.c.	Secretary, n.e.c., not private or stenographic
Employer	Shopkeeper, Status E
Entrepreneur	Superintendent, n.e.c.

In practice, it would be difficult to index all types of managerial occupations in private business. As a result, entries for each of the above descriptions appear in the index with an entry which refers the reader to Manager, n.e.c., where the above procedure is explained.

(ii) Major Group 7/8: Craftsman, Production-Process Workers and Labourers, n.e.c.

LABOURERS, N.E.C., including LABOURERS (SO DESCRIBED)

Code No.(a)		Title
Classification of Occupations	As used in this Index	Description	Industry Codes
772	772	Railway and Tramway, Repairmen, Fettlers, etc. ..	..
774	774	Yarns, Textiles, Clothing, Boots and Shoes	210–239, 240–249, 250–259
775	774	Founding, Engineering, Metal Working, Manufacture and Repairs of Vehicles	120–199, 200–209
776	774	Sawmilling, Wooden Furniture and Fittings	350–359, 360–369
777	774	Food, Drink and Tobacco	260–340
778	774	Cement, Bricks, Glass and Stone	100–109
779	774	Chemicals, Paints, Petroleum and Coal Products ..	110–119, 390–409
780	774	Other Manufacturing Industries	370–386, 410–412, 420–429, 430–431, 440–442, 450, 460–469, 470
781	774	Transport, Storage and Communication	520–579
782	774	Building and Construction, n.e.c.	500–519
783	774	Electric Power, Gas, Water and Sanitary Services (Production, Supply and Maintenance)	480–491
784	774	Commerce	610–649
785	774	Other Industries	580–609, 650–652, 670–679, 680–749, 750–799, 800, 810

(a) The codes 772–785 in the Classification cover most persons who describe themselves as labourer (except a number who are classified elsewhere, for example, farm labourers, mining labourers, oil and water drilling labourers, etc.) together with a number of other persons who do labouring types of work and are not classified elsewhere. In order to reduce the burden on coders all entries normally codable to categories 774 to 785 are channelled to code 774, the allocation to individual codes, 774 to 785 to be done by machine on the basis of industry.

(f) Use of Industry as a means of assigning imprecise Occupation Descriptions to Occupation Categories

(i) Apprentice, cadet

Persons who state they are serving an "apprenticeship", or an "improver" in a trade, are to be coded to that trade. However, a trainee engineman, railway, is not indexed with engine drivers but railway fireman; persons who give their occupation as " cadet engineer ", " cadet chemist " or other learner in the engineering or science professions are not to be coded to the relevant profession but are to be regarded as technicians, codes 071–072 in accordance with the index; a statistical cadet in government employment is to be coded to 162 Clerical Workers, Government, n.e.c., and an articled law clerk to code 163 Clerical Workers, Not Government, n.e.c.

A large number of persons merely give their occupation as " apprentice " without giving further particulars to enable their occupations to be coded more precisely. In order to assist with this problem, a table of industry codes with appropriate occupation categories assigned has been included in the index under Apprentice (so described) and n.e.c. The table is to be used as a guide, in coding a person who states his occupation as apprentice without giving further particulars to enable his occupation to be coded more precisely.

(ii) Foreman

Persons who include the term " foreman " or " leading hand " in an occupation description are to be coded to the occupation described, e.g., leading hand plumber or foreman plumber is to be coded to plumber. If a person really gives as his occupation description the term " foreman ", then, as a general rule, he should be coded to the " n.e.c." group of the production-process in which he is engaged. However, in three cases specific occupation categories have been included in the classification for the term " foreman " not more specifically defined, viz.:

Code No. 655 Foreman (so described) and n.e.c., Metal Working 664 Foreman (so described) and n.e.c., Electrical
696 Foreman (so described) and n.e.c., Building and Construction

In the index under the heading Foreman (so described) and n.e.c. appears a table of industry codes with appropriate occupation codes assigned, to be used as a guide, in coding a person who states his occupation as foreman without giving further particulars to enable his occupation to be coded more precisely.

(iii) Factory Worker (so described) and n.e.c.

Factory hand, factory worker, mill hand, refining hand, are terms often used by employees in factories, mills, refineries, etc., as occupation descriptions on Census Schedules. Where Census experience has shown that, in particular groups of occupations, this type of occupation description is used extensively, their specific categories have been introduced into the classification. A number of entries covering this type of worker appear in the index, mainly under factory worker. However, in addition, under the heading Factory Worker (so described) and n.e.c., appears a table of industry codes with appropriate occupation codes assigned, to be used as a guide in coding a person who gives his occupation as factory worker, or another synonymous description which is not already in the index.

(iv) Labourer (so described) and n.e.c.

A number of entries appear in the index for Labourer (so described). However, in an effort to facilitate coding of this description, under the heading Labourer (so described) and n.e.c., appears a table of industry categories with appropriate occupation codes allocated. The table is to be used as a guide in coding a person who states his occupation as labourer and for which no corresponding entry appears in the index.

(v) Machinist (so described) and n.e.c.

Machinist, machine minder, machine operator, machine attendant are terms often used by both males and females in describing occupations on Census Schedules without giving additional information to enable the occupation descriptions to be coded more precisely. To assist in coding such descriptions, under the heading Machinist (so described) and n.e.c. in the index appears a table of industry codes with appropriate occupation categories assigned. The table is to be used as a guide in coding a person who states his (or her) occupation as a machinist without giving further particulars to enable his occupation to be coded more precisely. However, care has to be taken in using this table to ensure that evidence on the Schedule does not suggest a more appropriate code. For example, a female " Machinist " employed in the Mining Industry should not be coded to 406 Machinemen and Drilling Machine Operators but 160 Office Machine Operators.

(g) Dual Occupation Descriptions

Where two or more occupation terms are used in reply to the question on occupation, as a general rule, code to the first mentioned, e.g., Clerk-receptionist code as clerk; Chartered accountant, company director, code as accountant. However, there are certain entries in the index where by general usage, two or more occupation terms are normally combined and used to describe an occupation, e.g., " Fitter and turner ", " Sheep and wheat farmer ". In the case of entries of the latter type, the occupation description is regarded as synonymous, irrespective of which term is mentioned first, for example " fitter and turner " or " turner and fitter ", " sheep and wheat farmer " or " wheat and sheep farmer ".

(h) Qualifications

Qualifications are often an important factor in determining to which occupation category an occupation description should be coded. Not all persons coded to professional occupations in Major Group 0, Professional, Technical and Related Workers hold qualifications at post-Secondary Standard. However, this is important in the field of engineers, where persons allocated to the codes listed below, with certain exceptions, specifically covered in the index, are required to hold university degrees or technical college diplomas or state they are members of an appropriate professional institute:

002 Civil Engineers
003 Electrical and Communications Engineers
004 Mechanical Engineers
005 Chemical Engineers
006 Metallurgists
007 Mining Engineers
008 Professional Engineers, n.e.c.

As mentioned above, trainee or cadet engineers in the work force, or engineering assistants with partially completed degrees or diplomas are coded to Technicians, n.e.c., 071, 072.

Engineers " so described ", with trade qualifications are to be coded to the Metal and Electrical Minor Groups of Major Group 7/8: Craftsmen, Production-Process Workers and Labourers, n.e.c.

(i) Occupations " inadequately described " or " not stated "

No person is to be allocated to code 860, Occupation Inadequately Described or Not Stated without reference to the Section Leader who, if he confirms its use, is to initial the code.

(j) Additions and Alterations to the Index

Under no circumstances is a coder to make any additions or alterations to the index without specific instructions from the Officer in Charge.

(k) Definitions

Certain occupation descriptions appearing in the alphabetical index are qualified as follows:

n.e.c. . .	. . Not elsewhere classified. A reported occupation description is only to be coded to the number appearing opposite an index entry, so qualified, after the coder has ascertained that the description on the Schedule does not appear elsewhere in the index; and, in particular, under some other order of words
(so described)	. . When an entry in the index is qualified in this manner, generally only reported occupation descriptions with the same or synonymous wording may be coded to the number appearing opposite the entry
Pr. & S.	. . Primary and Secondary School
(L.G.) . .	. . Local Government
(P.M.G.)	. . Postmaster-General's Department

In a number of other cases, the name of a government department, or other self-explanatory supplementary information has been added in full.

7 Instructions for Coding Occupations at the 1966 Census

(a) General

(i) Before attempting to code any Census Schedules it is important that you obtain a basic idea of the structure of the Classification of Occupations. A copy of this Classification will be made available to you during your period of training, and a copy will be held by your Section Leader for reference throughout the processing period. However, it is essential that you should use the Classification of Occupations, only as a reference source, and not in the actual process of coding.

(ii) It is important that you should have read and understood the preceding introductory pages.

(iii) Under no circumstances is a coder to make any alterations and additions to this index without specific instructions from the Officer in Charge.

(iv) Generally you will be able to code replies to Question 22, Occupation, in accordance with entries in the index.

(v) If, in using the index, the particular order of words reported on the Schedule, does not appear in the index, look up all possible variations before assuming that the description is not included.

(vi) In the process of coding you will learn to scan or summarize the information on the Schedule relevant to the coding of occupations. Industry and other information is often important in achieving the required occupation code.

(vii) The following are the more important details on the Schedule relevant to occupation coding:

Question No.

Personal Particulars:—

4	Sex
5	Age
6	Marital Status
14	Education
15	Qualifications
16–19	For persons 15 years of age and over, to determine whether they are in or out of the work force, and, if in the work force, whether employed or unemployed
20–24	Details of Job, Business or Profession
20	Usual Hours Worked
21	Occupational Status
22	Occupation
23	Industry, Business or Service
24	Place of Work

Dwelling Particulars:—

1	Class of Dwelling

(b) Determining Work Force

The following general comments are made about questions on the Census Schedule to determine whether a person is in or out of the work force.

Question 3 is the only question on the schedule dealing with economic activity which covers all persons enumerated. Here for a special reason the population is classified into those:

3 (a) .. Not in the Work Force.

3 (b) .. } In the Work Force on the basis of the 1961 Census wording, i.e. those

3 (c) .. } engaged in an industry, or out of a job at the time of the Census but who are usually engaged in an industry.

In questions 16–19, the population 15 years of age and over is classified into those:

(i) Not in the Work Force.

(ii) In the Work Force:

(a) Employed

(b) Unemployed

on the basis of having " a job or business of any kind last week (even though he may have been temporarily absent from it) ".

The most common pattern of reply for a person in the work force is as follows:

Question	Reply
16. Did the person have a job last week?	yes
17. Did the person work last week?	yes
18. Was the person temporarily laid off last week	no
19. Did the person look for work last week?	no

It is possible that a person over 15 years of age can be shown in the work force in question 3, and out of the work force on the basis of answers to questions 16–19 and vice versa. A set of supplementary instructions is provided to give you guidance in these circumstances, and in those cases, where on the Schedules, replies have been omitted or the information given appears inconsistent.

(c) Procedure for Determining Occupation

(i) The following rules for determining occupation have been written on the assumption that there is no conflicting evidence on the schedule and it has been established that the person concerned is in the work force.

(ii) Scan the following information on the schedule:

Question No.

Personal Particulars:—

4	Sex
5	Age
6	Marital Status
14	Education
15	Qualifications
16–19	Work Force Determination
20	Usual Hours Worked
21	Occupational Status
22	Occupation
23	Industry, Business or Service
24	Place of Work

Particulars of Dwelling:—

1	Class of Dwelling

(iii) Where the information stated in reply to Question 22, Occupation, is in the index, either as described, or in some alternative word form, code as indicated in the index.

(iv) The reply to Question 15, Qualifications, is to be carefully studied in those cases where professional or trade qualifications are important in determining the precise occupation category. For example, Professional Engineers, Codes 002–008.

(v) The reply to Question 21, Occupational Status should be carefully studied where it is important in determining the precise occupation category. For example, Code 210, Proprietors and Shopkeepers Working on own account, Status O, n.e.c., Retail and Wholesale Trade.

(vi) Where the occupation does not appear in this index and the answer to Question 24, Place of Work, indicates that the person is employed by a government department or authority refer to the Index of Designations of Commonwealth and State Government Departments and Semi-governmental Authorities for each State. See page 7, for line of demarcation between the two sections of the index.

(vii) Where the occupation stated is a precise description and does not appear in either part of the index, as described or in some alternative word combination, then refer to the Section Leader. Instructions to Occupation and Industry coders contain detailed procedure to be followed in these circumstances. The important point is that a query card must be raised, adequately documented and coded for future reference.

(viii) If Question 22, Occupation, is not answered, or the reply is indefinite, refer in the following order to:

(a) Question 23, Industry, Business or Service.
(b) Question 24, Place of Work.
(c) Question 21, Occupational Status.
(d) Questions 16–19, Work Force Determination.

(ix) If still unable to determine an occupation description to ensure accurate coding by reference to the index, refer to the Section Leader.

— Machinist (so described) and n.e.c.

The following table is to be used, as a guide, in coding a person who describes his occupation as a machinist without giving further particulars to enable his occupation to be coded more precisely from the index. Machine minder, machine operator, machine attendant are to be regarded as synonymous with machinist. The occupation code allocated will depend upon the industry code applicable in each individual case. However, before adopting this procedure, care should be taken to ensure that the evidence on the Schedule does not suggest a more appropriate code, e.g., a young female in certain industries who should be coded as Office Machine Operator, 160.
